STEM Fair

On Sunday, February 24th, the Mystery Lovers Bookshop hosted a STEM Fair for kids ages 4-10. The event was held in the Riverview Junior Senior High School Gym. Children's author Emily Calandrelli was present to lead area children in hands on STEM activities presented by groups like: Society of Women Engineers - Pittsburgh, Oakmont Carnegie Library, Oakmont Boy Scout/Girl Scouts, Science Tots, Hatch Art Studios, Tinkergarten, Mad Science Pittsburgh, Snapology, Chatham University, University of Pittsburgh Sports Medicine and Nutrition, and Bayer. There were participants from the South Hills, Highlands, Plum, New Kensington-Arnold, Fox Chapel, and of course many many students from our own community and district. Store owners Kristy Bodnar and Tara Goldberg-DeLeo said, "It is not an understatement when I say it was a great success. This was made possible from the support of the district, the student volunteers, and the custodial services. All of these factors contributed to a successful event."
